Information gathered is used to help identify the property that an address verification is being requested. Addresses are not a legal description of property. Addresses are assigned to direct emergency responders, and others to identify property, entrances, and/or structures. As property is divided or sold entrances changed and/or structures added or removed the numerical assignments may need to be adjusted in type, shifted in location, or changed. Significant changes may result in a fee not to exceed the fee for a new address point.
